HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

When all is said and done, it has been a good year. Our enrollment throughout the year has been as high as it has ever been in the school's long history. I know that we have most certainly raised the standard of achievement in academics. The monthly reports we issue bear testimony to this fact. This year we have offered an even wider choice of team and individual athletic activities for all seasons and there have been new and numerous extracurricular activities, (the first-run of our own Science Fair being a good example). The Lower School continues to flourish and after one more school year we shall have the first "crop" of students graduate to the Senior School. The future is bright.

It had not been an easy year due to the strange, out of season, changes in the weather. When we wanted the snow, it just didn't come; when the ski season was over the students were bursting to get out and throw a ball around, the snow came white and deep. Then there was the heat wave. In my judgment these changes did in some measure cause our students to become restless for a while; their thoughts turned to additional privileges and "change". Today, our students have more privileges than ever before. Like Oliver Twist they must ask for more and some are never satisfied. I do not propose to support change without good reason, for unlike the weather, this is something I can control.

Through it all ... the "pace" of the year, the indifferent and the good, I am encouraged by what has happened. We have come a long way over the past decade and now stand tall among the Independent Schools of this fair land. AND ... we have no problem that cannot be put right, so that a feeling of fairness and well-being can prevail in and around our hallowed halls.

More than a year ago, a friend of mine gave me a copy of a prayer ... it is a prayer for those who teach in schools like ours and yet it has something to say to us all.....

"From inability to leave well alone,
From too much zeal for what is new and too much contempt for what is old....

From putting knowledge before wisdom,
Science before art,
Cleverness before common sense.

From treating boys as mere students,

From making the learning of a subject more important than education ....

GOOD LORD, deliver us : AMEN."

LOVE

How, how is the word I ask.
How, is it possible to love your enemy?
How, is it possible to love a person
How, is it possible to know what true love is?
Is there true love in this world?
I want to know.

Michael Shayne

PEOPLE

I once talked to a rock; it seemed that it had nothing to say. That rock was like someone I once knew; he had nothing to say either.

LIFE

When you think you have the situation under control, it frequently eludes your grasp. Why is it always so difficult to understand the problems that seem to reflect your own personality.

LIFE STREET

Walking down Life Street to find out my place,
I came on a man who had given up the chase.
He sat on the curb with his head in his hands,
And wept about peace in some far away lands.
"I'll leave this LIFE STREET," he said, full of dread,
Pulled out a revolver that was aimed at his head.
I walked up quite plainly and asked what was wrong.
He quickly replied that he'd been here too long.
"My friends used to greet me with gifts and with love,
But now when I pass, all they give is a shove.
This street's full of losers; the good guys are fake."
I frankly replied, "You must give, when you take."
He dug his hands in his pockets and looked at his feet,
As I went on to say, "Life's no one way street."

THE GAME

There is a game,
The hardest one.
No one knows how to play.
You don't roll doubles,
Or get two hundred for passing go
The game is called peace

DAYDREAMS

Happy moments,
Off in a world of my own,
Everything peaceful and quiet,
I'm spoken to -- my dreams are shattered.
Reality returns again.

WORLD CRISIS: NO MORE DOG FOOD

My name is George and I am a happily married, three hundred pound Saint Bernard. This is the story of a nation-wide crisis that occurred in the United States many years ago when I was just a pup growing up in Buffalo, New York. At the time I had my own pet human, named Brian, because my parents did not want me to get an inferiority complex as many young pups do.

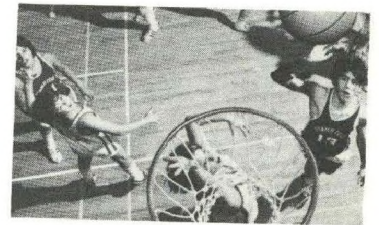

It all started when I was bringing Brian home from his obedience class and we were passing through a park. On one of the benches I saw that day's edition of the DAILY BARK and on the cover the headline read MAJOR FOOD CRISIS: AFGHANISTAN CUTS OFF FOOD SUPPLIES TO THE UNITED STATES OF DOGS. I did not know what to do. What would it be like without dog food. We could not import cat food from the Catalina Islands because no dog in his right mind would eat it. Could we eat biscuits or use old bones? No, no one would like that either. This was a real catastrophe!

Although Brian was only a human, he could still sense something was wrong, but it did not really matter because you can feed a human any old scrap of food.

We went directly home, and as I entered it, a split-level, two garage dog house, I saw my mother and father sitting down and they both looked very serious. They were discussing what to do and how we should ration our remaining food. Then it hit me! Seeing that according to most television commercials all dogs love cheese, we could build a rocket dog house like Snoopy's and go to the moon to get some cheese. (This idea came when dogs were still in an early stage of development).

That was the idea I took to the President; it solved the food crisis and I soon received my Red Paw of Courage. By the way, have you ever wondered why you do not usually see a full moon?

Robert Allan

BASKETBALL?

It's funny the way things are alike; I have been thinking of how much a meal at the Dining Hall resembles a Basketball game. The game starts right after the prayer is said; this resembles the whistle. Both teams rush over to get the tray to get the Corn Flakes instead of the Rice Krispies.

Once we are seated at our table (the game floor), the real movement starts. "Pass the milk, quick! Pass it, pass it!" one of the players asks. But ha! the milk is caught by someone from the opposing team. "Oh, _____," he swears. "Oops," says the referee (prefect), "You have a meal," in other words, a technical foul.

After the meal, all the players go to their rooms to wait for the next game at noon.

Eduardo Hermosillo

CARRY ON

Throughout the whole kingdom of Earth no one was unhappier than the king's own court jester, or at least that is what he told himself, and you might have said so too, if you had met him.

"I am a paradox of my profession," cried the jester, "Sick and weary, each day, I fall deeper into the abyss and nobody even knows it." And, of course they didn't know, for, after all, a joker is joker and a fool remains a fool and that is all there is to it.

Well, one evening after the king had put a wine goblet to his lips, our friend decided upon a venture into the deep forest. The forest of Earth was a very old one, just the kind that you don't really want to enter at night, especially all by yourself. But the jester, though not sure of his path, was certain of his destination. He was going to see the witch, the old witch, the black-hearted witch, the witch who gave the trees their claws, and the stones their frost. It was frightening, yet the jester could not help but think that she held more about her than evil spells and old bones.

"If there is hope, it lies with her," he thought, for not all of the tales he had heard of the old hag of the wood were filled with dread. So on he walked.

With about half a night's journey through the trees behind him, he came to what was unmistakably her cottage. All bare grey stone and thatched straw it was, yet there was a sort of vital glow about it. There were a few moments of hesitation, then he was tapping nervously on a little red window at her door.

Now you can imagine the poor jester's surprise when the witch did appear... on the roof. She was wrapped in a long brown robe and wore nothing else but a smile. Not the kind of wicked grin one generally expects from an aging hag who wants to cook you, rather it was a reassuring smile on a carefree face. It meant that words or explanations were neither asked for nor necessary.

A thin hand emerged from the dark folds of cloth and motioned the jester to the doorway, which now stood unexpectedly wide open. Stepping in, he saw no rooms, only a narrow oaken staircase. It was some time after he had begun ascending this that he halted in astonishment. Before him rose a great cone of golden flame. It was warm, but not hot, and it would not burn or spread. The jester's dismay turned to delight as he realized that it could not be extinguished. The dancing fire washed through him in a wave of feelings as he passed up the stairway.

Each step seemed to take years, yet even as the roar of the flames left them, his ears were filled with the sound of rushing water; and then, his ears were filled with water, clear and glittering. He was in the midst of an eternally plunging cascade, and as it cleansed and refreshed him, it brought the same beautiful awareness the fire had. With effort he left the sea of joy, for he knew he must reach the top of the stairway.

From the last step he sprang forth and emerged into an immense open room. It held a glowing light at one end and it was fading black at the other. He thought for a moment and then realized he was outside on the roof at dawn, watching the sun streaming up over the forest in all its rays and refractions, bending through each drop of dew and then striking him full and warm in the face. The witch stood there too, still smiling. The jester climbed down alive in the sunlight and knowing that everything was going to be all right he ran through the woods.

College skier survives Jay Peak blizzard

Dorian Goldstein of Montreal, a student at Stanstead College, probably owes his life to his superb physical condition and his own ingenuity.

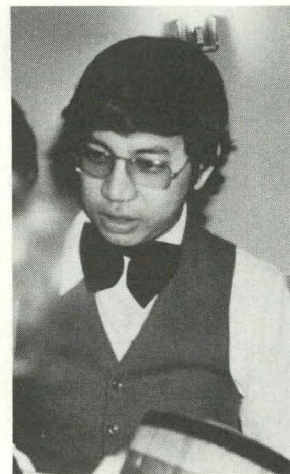

Dorian was skiing on Jay Peak

Monday morning. He came out of the woods about 3 p.m., with no ill effects from his ordeal.

Although winds with gusts up to 60 miles per hour whipped the mountain during the night, Dorian was able to find shelter and light a fire. He was back at school on Tuesday no worse for wear.

Baccalaureate Service and Prize-Giving

GUEST OF HONOUR:

His Excellency Sir John Johnston, KCMG, KCVO
British High Commissioner to Canada

Saturday, May 31st, 1975
11:00 A.M.

We are lucky, in this year of grace 1975 - and you are especially lucky, being young-because we stand at the beginning of a quarter of a century which is likely to see the greatest progress ever made in the history of the world. I've seen a bit myself. When I was born there was no radio, no television, no air services. Farming was done with horses. But the changes I have seen are nothing to what you will witness. Those of you who are leaving school are surf-riding into the world on a crest of a wave of scientific and technological progress of an immensity and a potential which YOU will take in your stride, but which those of us who are older find breath-taking. And those of you who aren't surf-riders are going into it just as fast on your ten-speed bicycles.

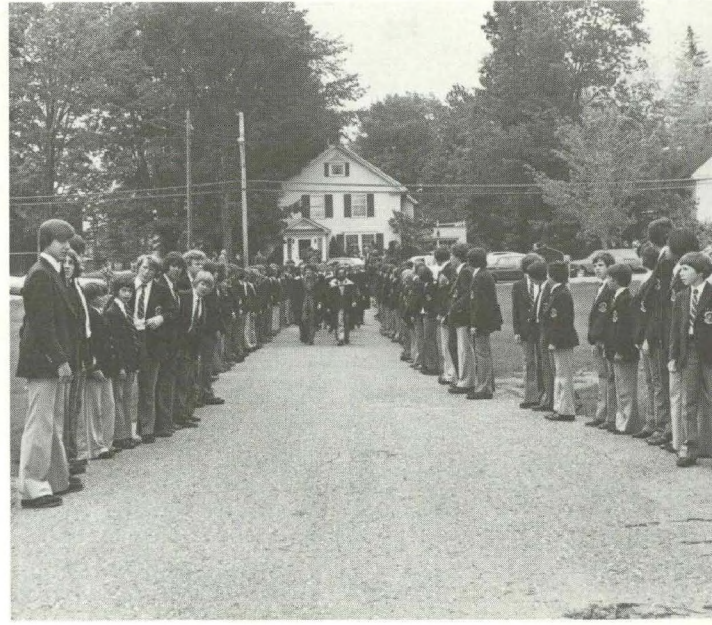

You do so at a point in history when another world war would mean such absolute and final destruction that I for one do not believe there will be another. So - and the present generations are the first in the history of the world of whom this could be said - you face the reasonable prospect of a lifetime of peace.

You start off in a world in which engineers and scientists are harnessing the forces of nature as never before: in which people can move about more quickly, build more strongly, grow more food, do difficult things more easily, get better from illness more swiftly - and more often - than has ever been possible before.

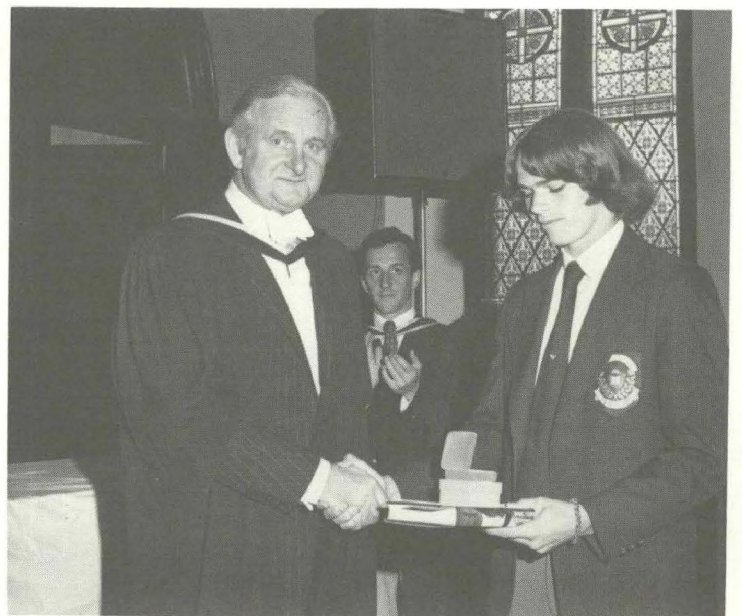

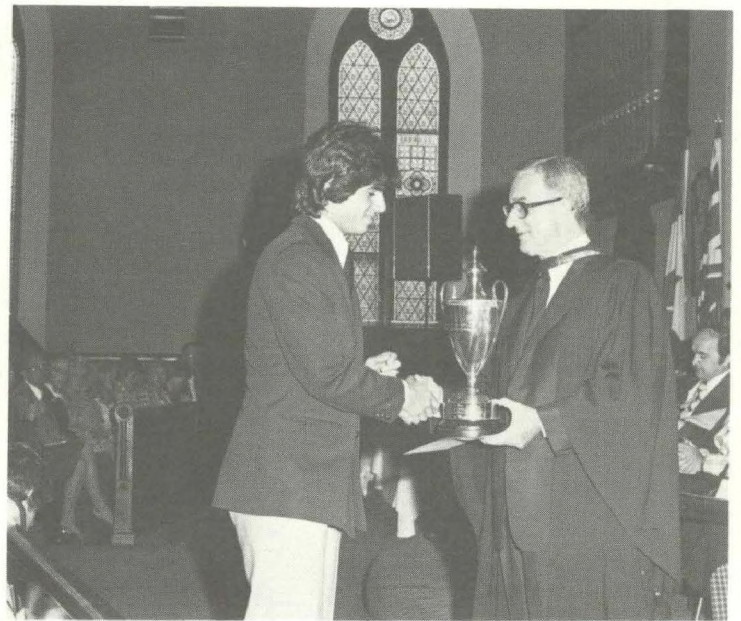

You lucky people, indeed. There before you are all the tools and all the skills which should make life happier and fuller and more secure for all the inhabitants of this planet. But it's awe-inspiring as well as lucky. Because what I want to say to you is that the key to whether it is going to happen; to whether, with all the marvellous skills and resources available to us, we can make that better world which everybody wants, is the people in it. You are the key. All the knowledge that has been accumulated in 5,000 years of civilization, and all the possibilities of prosperity and happiness for everyone which it represents, is in our hands, and above all in yours as the younger generation. What sort of a world we have in the year 2,000 depends on what you do with it - on what kind of people you are. Shakespeare summed it up - he summed up everything - through the lips of Miranda in the Tempest, when she said "O brave new world, THAT HATH SUCH PEOPLE IN IT."

SPARTAN STAFF THROTTLE 'DEFECTS'

STANSTEAD (UPI-BD)

The highly overrated and over publicized Defects were put in their places this past Monday by the Stanstead Spartan Staff. The group affectionately known as "the over-the-hill-gang" convincingly hammered the cocky student police 2-1 in the Annual Staff-Defect soccer game.

The day was sunny but chilly as the entire game was played under very windy conditions. The first half was scoreless with the better conditioned staff toying with the hapless, frustrated defects who saw play after play defined professionally. Meanwhile, the staff saw a couple of occasions to move in for the kill but elected to hold off to give the defects a false sense of security. This strategy was to pay off handsomely later.

Early in the second half, with the Defects lured into the Staff's end, a neat move by Superstar W.G. Walker (the old right heel to left heel deke) signalled the Staff to score to begin the deflation of the 'Fects' egos. A sharp pass to Phleet Philip to Elliot to Philip to Martin to Philip and a blistering shot put the staff in command 1-0 while the Defects walked around aimlessly, shellshocked, in total disbelief. Truly a phenomenal play.

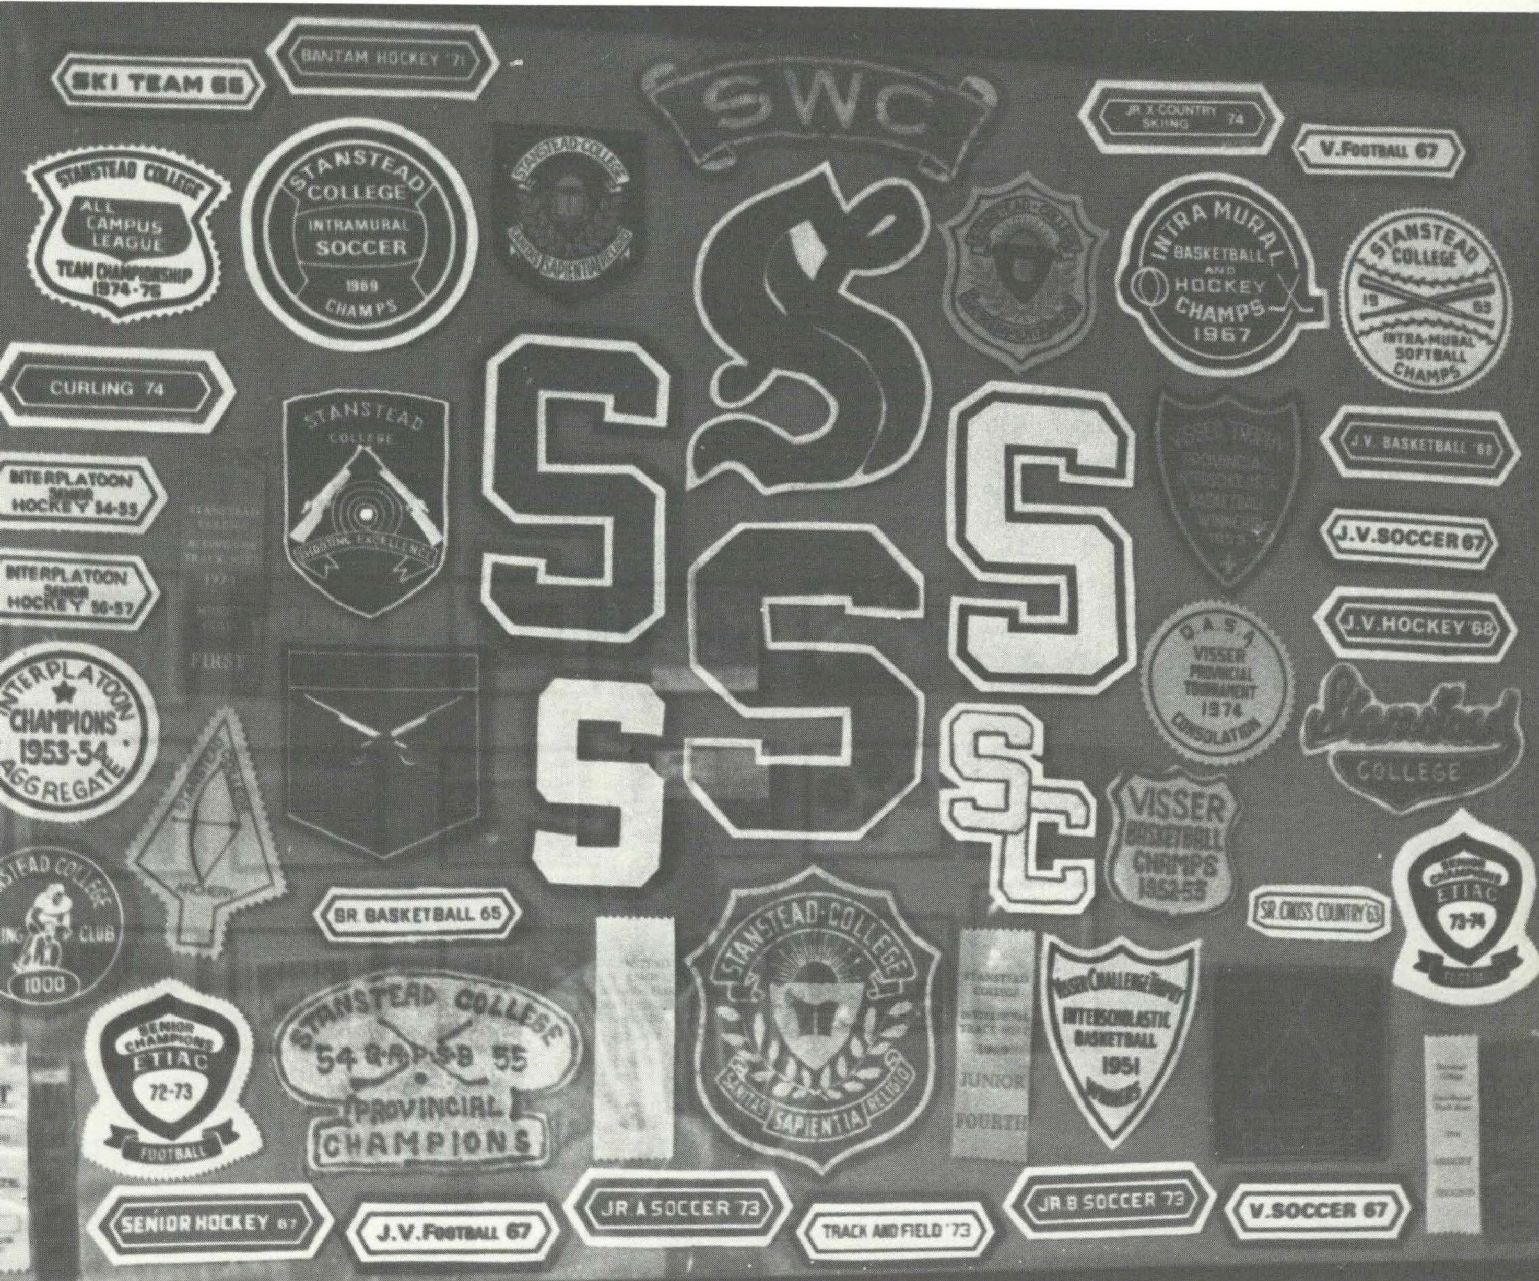

The second lure was set up even better. This time the staff let up completely to allow the "greasy, spicy meatball" Pasquale to score (a hand ball at that but the Staff did not protest). With the score 1-1 and the Defects completely taken in with this new life, a fake injury to steady Walker again signalled the Staff to move in for the kill. This time speed did the Defects in as Staff really had a three man on goaler break with Nimble Neve delivering the fatal blow.

Post game chatter among experts and sportswriters indicated that experience was an outstanding factor in the game plus the replacement of veteran A. Lumsden by the super sleezy rookie, B. Martin, a very valuable asset to the staff. The other big factor proved to be teamwork. Again and again indecision and dissention showed in the ranks of the 'Fects' while the well-oiled Staff machine mercilessly rolled on to victory.

Playing Coach and Referee Mr. N. T. Russell must certainly be proud of such a fit, well-trained and cohesive group.

The following pages are respectively dedicated to the many young athletes and sports enthusiasts who do not come first or win trophies or letters, but who contribute so much time and effort in making the program as enjoyable and successful as it is.

This year the varsity soccer team got off to an unhealthy start. Many of us opened the season with injuries. We had few veterans from last years' team. Nevertheless, we were a pack of anxious young men who were intent on shaping ourselves into a team.

With the help of Mr. Walker, our coach, we were able to improve our capabilities and in a surprisingly short time we were able to work as a team; we were now to be considered a potential threat to other teams.

"RED WHITE, RED WHITE....PASS THE BALL....SHOOT....We played the games. All of us giving everything we had, we were overjoyed when we won, but also learned to accept our losses. If there was one thing we didn't lack, it was team spirit.

Throughout the season we were faced with the worst of luck. We never really got a chance to show ourselves except maybe once, away at Ashbury, when we showed the provincial champs from Ontario what soccer was all about.

One major disappointment of the team was that each time we played there were very few spectators but on the whole, we had a fun season ending second in the League.

The 1974-75 football season was a rebuilding year for the Stanstead Spartans. With only seven veterans returning the team was well blessed with rookies.

On Sept. 18th the season was underway with the opening game against the "Old Boys". They were a big team, determined to win as always, but we managed to keep the twelve year unbeaten record alive by pulling out the victory on the last play of the game; the final score was 13-8.

Our second game was our first league game. We travelled to Galt to meet the "Pipers" who were a tough, hard-hitting team, and we had to play 60 minutes of hard football to win the game 28-21.

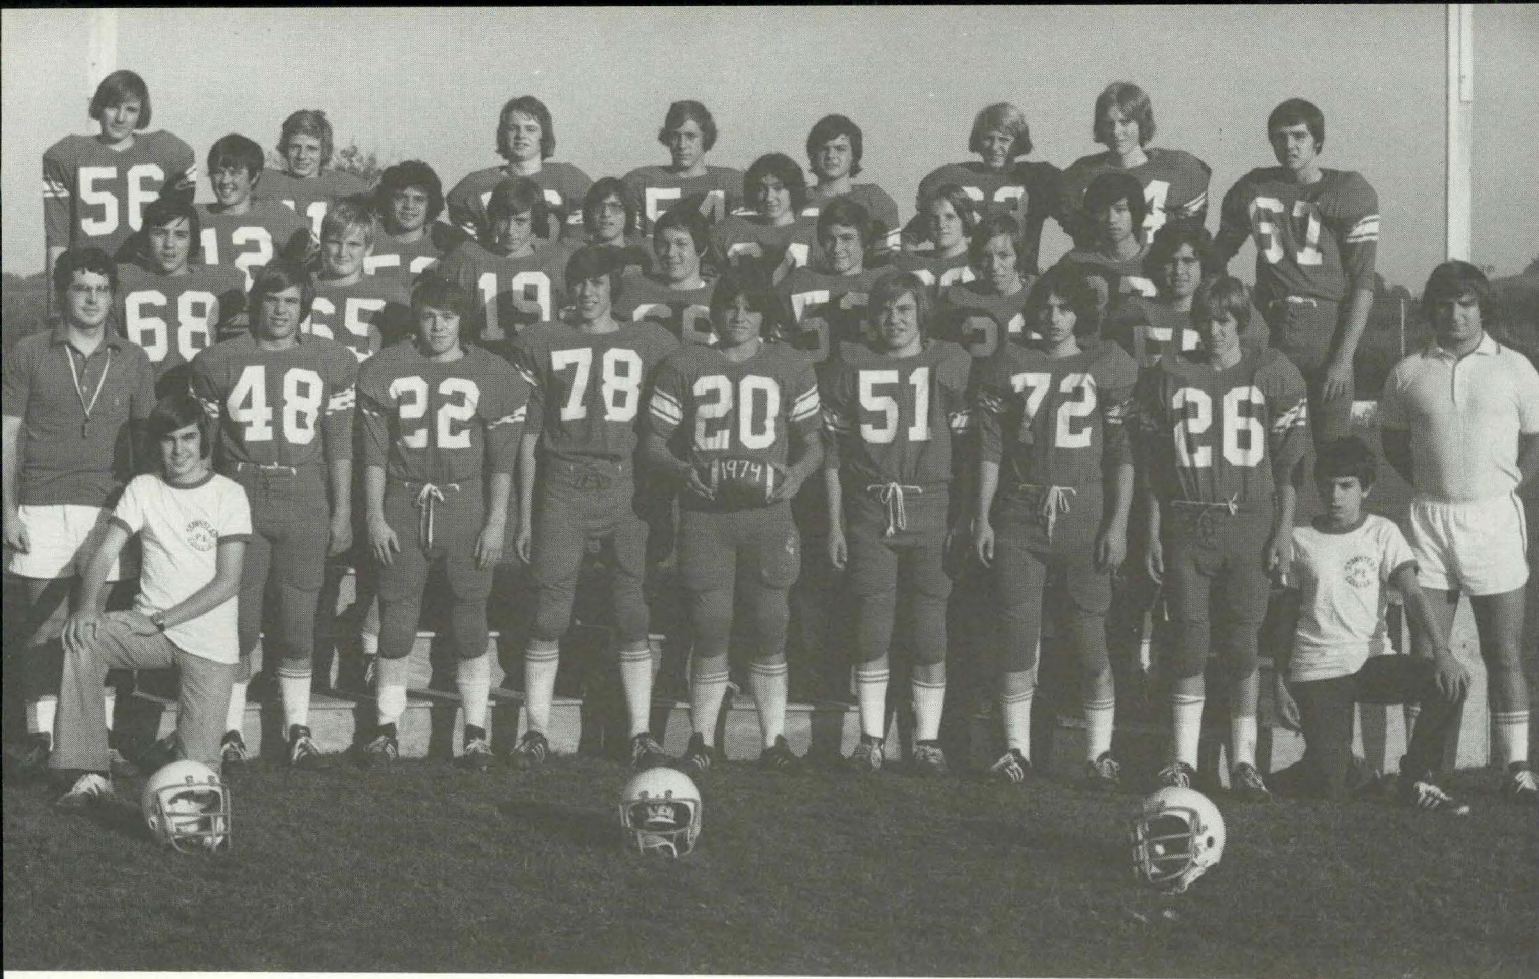

On Oct. 2nd, the first defeat reached Stanstead's home field in 8 years. It also came from our arch rivals, B.C.S. On the final whistle, the score showed B.C.S. 37, Stanstead, 26.

Next came Ralph B. Hood Day; this was the main event during the Stanstead football season. With a good team effort, we defeated Galt 30-20; the victory also left us in fine standing for our return match with B.C.S. This was when disaster struck for the second time. On Oct. 19th we were crushed by a well balanced team 41-0 sending the Senator Howard Trophy for inter-school competition between S.C. and B.C.S. back to B.C.S. for the first time in 9 years. It also cost us the league championship.

Our final two games were exhibition games with Montreal West High School in Montreal and a home game against Granby. These came as a result of a withdrawal from the league by Richelieu Valley and the two games were forfeited to us. We won the game from M.W.H.S. 22-1e and rounded out the season by defeating an unexperienced Granby team 70-0. Our total record for the season was 7 wins, 2 losses.

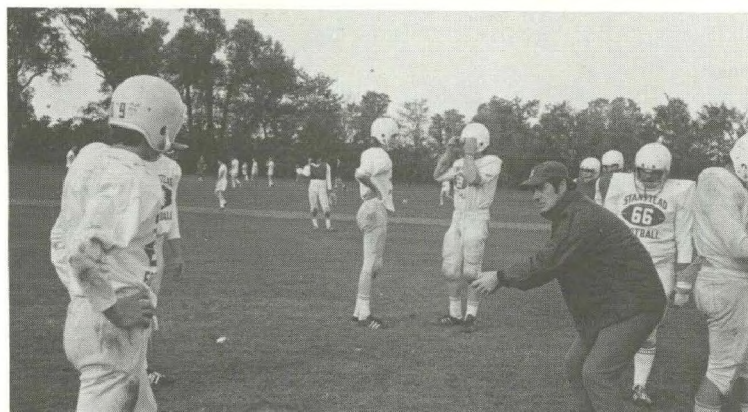

The team would like to thank Mr. Philip and Mr. Denney for their time and effort and to Mr. Brock for keeping the team statistics. We would also like to wish the future Stanstead teams all the best in re-capturing the E.T.I.A.C. Crown. Good Luck!

The Fencing Club has been operating with difficulty owing to lack of the necessary equipment - all competition work is now done with electric weapons which are costly and we have not, as yet, been able to raise the funds to buy them.

Despite this, ten to twelve students have persevered with the old fashioned equipment and learned the basic essentials of the sport. These students will have little difficulty in converting this knowledge to good use when they get the opportunity to compete with modern equipment.

College crests for proficiency were rewarded to David Tung and Byron Mark. New awards were made to Norman Perrier, Barry Chan and Po Kin Wong.

The 1974-1975 edition of the Spartan Basketball Team finished the season playing .500 ball despite a very slow first half of the season with a number of injuries to key players. While they did lose their share of games, they were very exciting to watch because the best part of the Spartan game plan was the run-and-gun style of play which they used so effectively to make up for their lack of height.

There were some events to remember; particularly defeating Richelieu Valley in a thrilling game to take consolation honours at the Alexander Galt Invitational Tournament and, with our record at 7 wins 11 losses, winning games consecutively over L.C.C., MacDonald-Cartier, Seminaire de Sherbrooke and the Old Boys to close out at 11-11.

Outstanding players on this year's team were Jim Etcheverry, Peter Churchill and Malcolm Graham, all of whom received their Major "S". In particular, credit should go to Jim Etcheverry, who closed out his four year career at Stanstead in style. This was Jim's second year as captain; made the first all-star team in the Alexander Galt Invitational Tournament; scored over 400 points in the 20 games he played; won the Dr. E.C. Amaron Trophy as the team's MVP for the second consecutive year.

This year they played a team sport as a team and this made all the difference. With many of the team returning, next season looks very bright at the moment.

VARSITY HOCKEY - 1974-75

This year's Varsity Hockey team had its problems. Our record was not as good as it has been, but that was due to the fact that we were faced with stiff competition and that both goalies were rookies. There were many other rookies in the team, but they found experience as the year progressed.

The season had its highlights, as we played schools in the ETIAC league and in Ontario and the United States. We didn't do too well on the scoreboard, although the team held up against each team with determination. Especially good for the team morale was the tie with L.C.C.; the Spartans came up with their best effort of the year.

Our coach Mr. Boyd deserves great appreciation; during the season, he coached, he yelled, he taught, he benched, and most of all, he kept the team together as a unit. Although this season was his last, as he is retiring from coaching hockey, he will be remembered well by the thirteen different teams he has coached at Stanstead.

CROSS-COUNTRY SKIING 1974-75

Despite rather poor snow conditions, Scott Morgan managed to Captain our Cross-Country teams to one of our most successful seasons. Training on our own trails a minimum of three times a week and skiing at Wilvaken and Orford on Wednesdays and weekends, we managed to keep in reasonable shape and had some very enjoyable skiing.

Our first competitions were open 5 Km. races at the Octagan, the morning after our Carnival dance. A somewhat depleted and seedy looking group took off in the minibus and to our amazement, Steve Eveleigh came home with the Junior trophy followed in by Bill Croskery and Larry Maislin. Scott Morgan did some excellent skiing to beat off very tough competition in the Senior event and he also came away with the trophy.

Twenty-one of us set off for the Marathon this year and were feeling pretty pleased with ourselves after some very pleasant skiing on the first day. Overnight the snow changed to "sticky porridge" and the second day was a nightmare. Ian Goodfellow, Steve Eveleigh, John Mayo and Terry Skaperdas did amazingly well to be presented with the Glen Morrall Trophy for the best school boy team. Ian managed an incredible 70 miles.

Our first relay experience was obtained at Ottawa in the Nantuckit relays and some excellent teams showed us how to perform. In the Independent school meet, hosted by Ashbury, we were at a slight disadvantage because we had few seniors and there were no Junior events. Our Juniors showed well and improved their times considerably over the weekend. Ian Goodfellow did well to come second in two of the races and come away with two silver spoons.

This was a good year - lots of experience gained, times improved and we had a lot of fun.

This year Steve Eveleigh and Mark Roberts were awarded a Junior S.

Scott Morgan and Ian Goodfellow won their Major S.

Ian Goodfellow was awarded the Eric Ed Memorial Trophy.

TRACK AND FIELD 1975

This year's team was quite fortunate in that the weatherman cooperated for the most part, and good weather prevailed throughout the season.

A major part of the success of this team must be attributed to the midget group led by Captain Peter Churchill.

Some of the highlights of the season would have to be tieing for first in the Junior class at our own Invitational meet and winning the midget class aggregate at the Y's Men's meet in Lennoxville. This group of boys was led by Peter Churchill who won the 800 meters and high jump in all meets and our throwers, Peter Jacobsen and John Nadeau. They will certainly form a strong nucleus for next year's team.

Sincere thanks are expressed to the coaching staff, Mr. Boyd, Mr. Philip and Mr. Gomez for making this year's team a success.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

BASKETBALL?

It's funny the way things are alike; recently I have been thinking of how much a meal at the dining hall resembles a Basketball game.

The game starts right after the prayer is said, this resembles the whistle. Both teams rush over to get the tray, to get the "cornflakes" instead of "rice krispies".

Once we are settled at our table (or game floor) the real movement starts. "Pass the milk, quick, pass it, pass it." one of the players asks. But, ha! the milk is caught by someone from the opposite team, "Oh sh... blast", he swears, "oops", says the referee (or the prefect.) You have a meal to wait, in other words, a technical foul.

After the meal, all the players go to their rooms to sleep or rest for the next game at noon.

PUREST OF THE PURE

Purest is the sunlight,
It makes each day look bright.
Purest is the moonlight
Makes silver of the night.
Purest is a daydream,
It lets out what we feel.
Purest is a cool breeze
It gives the world new zeal.
Purest is the springtime
It lets the world go free.
Purest is the autumn,
The moon, the stars and me.
Purest is the winter
All cloaked in whitest snow.
Purest is the summer
In which all things can grow.
But Purest of the Purest
The thing sent from above
Purest are the people
Who know, and feel, and love.

LIFE STREET

Walking down life street to find out my place,
I came on a man, who, had given up the chase.
He sat on the curb with his head in his hands,
And wept about peace in some far away lands.
"I'll leave this LIFE STREET" he said, full of dread,
Pulled out a revolver that was aimed at his head.
I walked up quite plainly and asked what was wrong,
He quickly replied that he'd been here too long.
"My friends used to greet me with gifts and with love,
But now when I pass, all they give is a shove.
This street's full of losers, the good guys are fake."
I frankly replied, "You must give, when you take."
He dug his hands in his pockets and looked at his feet,
As I went on to say, "Life's no one way street."

C. Hodgson

LIFE

When you think you have the situation under control, it frequently eludes your grasp. And why is it always so difficult to understand the problems that seem to reflect your own personality?

PEOPLE

I once talked to a rock. It seemed that it had nothing to say. That rock was like someone I once knew, he had nothing to say either.

THE MOUNTAIN

I once did stand upon a mountain, and did feel awed. The splendid beauty of its ruggedness, with a shimmering lake at its base and skudding clouds overhead, was like a postcard. There I stood, feeling minute amongst the towering Jack Pines. And I felt the power of the mountain. The warm rays beating down against my face, with the long grass and a fly buzzing round moved me into slumber. As I lay and slept I dreamed that the mountain did speak, and the ground did quake. I had witnessed the zenith of my inner thoughts.

P. Churchill

Ask us about a Student loan. It pays to get an education.

Education costs a bundle.

At the Commerce, we know.
And, we can help lighten the load.
Talk to a local Commerce manager about a student loan.

He can help you get it. And,
he can help you keep it in check with proper money management.
